Portion & Blood-Sugar Guidelines

Plate method: Aim for about ½ plate non-starchy vegetables, ¼ plate protein-rich food (dal/beans/tofu/paneer), and ¼ plate whole-grain/starchy food (chapati/rice/millet).
Carbohydrates: Prefer whole grains and legumes. Keep rice portions moderate rather than eliminating them. Pair carbohydrate foods with protein, vegetables and curd when tolerated.
Fruit: Choose whole fruit, not juice. Keep to 1 serving at a time. Prefer guava, apple, orange, papaya and other whole fruits; avoid adding sugar.
Drinks: Water, unsweetened tea/coffee. Avoid soft drinks, packaged juices, sweetened beverages and frequent sugary snacks.
Cooking: Use approximately 3–4 tsp oil/day across cooking, adjusting for the actual recipes and total calories. Prefer steaming, pressure-cooking, sautéing and grilling over deep frying.
Activity: If medically safe, build toward regular walking and 2–3 strength-training sessions/week. A short walk after meals can be useful for glucose management.

Weekly Grocery List

| Category | Items |
|---|---|
| Staples | Oats, poha, rava, whole-wheat atta, brown/red rice or regular rice, millets, idli/dosa batter |
| Pulses/protein | Moong dal, toor dal, chana, rajma, whole green gram/sprouts, roasted chana, tofu, paneer, curd, peanuts, makhana |
| Vegetables | Carrot, beans, cabbage, cauliflower, spinach/keerai, tomato, cucumber, onion, capsicum, bottle gourd, brinjal, okra, pumpkin, mixed seasonal vegetables |
| Fruits | Guava, apple, orange, papaya, watermelon and seasonal local fruits |
| Flavouring | Lemon, ginger, garlic, green chilli, coriander, curry leaves, cumin, mustard, turmeric, pepper, sambar powder |
| Avoid/limit | Sugar, sweets, sweetened beverages, biscuits, bakery snacks, chips, deep-fried snacks, large rice portions and frequent refined-flour foods |

Meal-prep strategy for a busy professional: On one weekend day, batch-cook dal/beans, wash and chop vegetables, prepare dosa/adai batter, portion nuts/roasted snacks, and keep curd/tofu/paneer ready. Most weekday meals can then be assembled in about 15–25 minutes.

Medical note: Because “borderline sugar” can mean different things depending on fasting glucose, HbA1c and other results, discuss the plan with your doctor/dietitian if glucose readings are elevated, medications are being used, or symptoms occur. Weight loss should be gradual rather than through crash dieting.
